

Mr. Adams

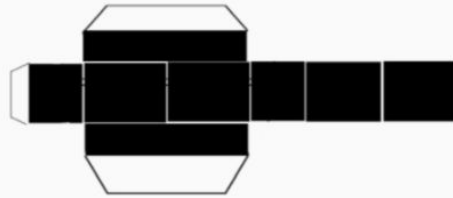

The flat pack toy I created was my writing and history teacher, Mr. Adams. He is the fun and cool kind of teacher who plays movies and lets us have a snack in class. Everyday when we complete a writing assignment or history assignment we get a piece of candy

He is a fun, humorous, and enjoys helping his class learn about history and helping the school basketball team out

1. Start by cutting the black lines around the body
2. Start to fold everything into a box shape
3. Start to glue or tape the parts together
4. Next either glue or tape the arms to the side of the body
5. Attach the shoe on the bottom of the body
6. Enjoy!
